

Abstract of the Disclosure

Clock-learning aid combination is a truly unique solution for children of all ages and anybody else who wishes to enhance their skill of learning vocabulary and other subjects.

The purpose of this invention is to present educational materials adjacent to an object that displays time, which is frequently looked at throughout the day.

It is a combination of a clock and a display of thesaurus (or other learning materials, e.g., vocabulary, historical facts, spelling). The vocabulary / thesaurus display shows one word at a time with its thesaurus. The display is of such size that it is visible from anywhere within an average room.

The content can be arranged according to different linguistic levels, to suit various ages, and topics. The content can be loaded via a cartridge and updated as needed. The learning material display item will appear at a rate selected by the user (e.g. one word per hour).
